Discretely tucked away in one of Manchester's quiet residential neighborhoods is one of New Hampshire's best-kept shooting secrets: The Wilson Hill Pistol Club.

Although many area shooters may never have heard of it, Wilson Hill lays claim to being the oldest hand gun-only club in the state. Back in 1935, a group of individuals gathered to form the Wilson Hill Pistol Club, or WHPC

After having a couple of different homes around Manchester, the club settled in its present location in 1948. Today, the club is still going strong. Offering central New Hampshire shooters an all-weather, six position, 50' indoor range. The range is not fancy, but is complete with a modern ventilation system to remove potentially harmful gases and particles. The building also features a classroom and meeting area.

Above all, is a club by and for shooters. It's a great place to practice your craft, learn more about marksmanship, firearms safety and enjoy the fellowship of other knowledgeable Shooters.
